NWS: Rip current risk continues through Sunday

Meteorologists are anticipating dangerous rip currents along east-facing reefs to continue through this weekend, and encourage the community to stay out of hazardous waters.

The National Weather Service Weather Forecast Office Guam issued a rip current statement for Guam, Rota, Tinian, and Saipan on east-facing reefs of the Mariana Islands until Sunday evening.

NWS also advised that rip currents will briefly subside Monday, but are expected to return by next Wednesday.

Rip currents can sweep even the best swimmers away from shore into deeper water, officials stated.

Officials offered the following guidelines while the risk continues:

- Inexperienced swimmers should not enter the water
- Never swim alone
- Swim near a lifeguard.
- If you are caught in a rip current, relax and float. Don't swim against the current. Swim in a direction following the shoreline. If unable to escape, face the shore and call or wave for help.

5 parishes suspend Masses after Capuchin priest tests positive

A member of the Capuchin Franciscans has tested positive for COVID-19.

The Capuchin priest does not actively celebrate Mass at any of the churches in the Archdiocese of Agaña. However, out of an abundance of caution that they may have come into contact with the priest, the pastors and staff of five local churches are in quarantine, according to the archdiocese.

That means Masses at the five parishes overseen by the Capuchins — Our Lady of the Blessed Sacrament in Agaña Heights, San Miguel in Talofofo, Santa Teresita in Mangilao, St. Jude in Sinajana and St. Francis in Yona — are temporarily suspended until further notice, the archdiocese stated. The churches and offices of those parishes will also be closed.

The priest who tested positive was admitted to the Guam Regional Medical City on Jan. 19, the archdiocese stated. The archdiocese notified the Department of Public Health and Social Services and activated its protocols.

contact tracing," church officials stated.

Archbishop Michael Byrnes and Father Patrick Castro, Custos of the Provincial (Custody Star of the Sea) Order of Friars Minor Capuchin of Guam and Hawaii, ask residents for their prayers for the Capuchin friar and all who have contracted COVID-19.

The governor, along with DPHSS officials, have encouraged residents to continue wearing masks, washing hands frequently and practicing social distancing to help prevent the spread of the novel coronavirus that causes COVID-19.
